Transforming Nursing Practice to Impact Global Healthcare

16 October 2009 | 1415 - 1745 hours | MR303 - 304, Level 3 Suntec Convention Centre

Synopsis

The Keynote Speaker will be touching on Nursing in the region versus Nursing in Singapore (benchmarking) and our professional strides towards excellence. Issues discussed include how we shine (e.g. empowered nurses) and where we lag; how we position ourselves as the Asian nursing model of excellence and whether nursing in Singapore can serve as the benchmark for others.

This track will also cover how we have impacted healthcare via improved nurse-patient ratios, decreased cost through lower LOS and better patient outcomes; improved patient survival rates, improved patient knowledge, higher educated and better empowered nurses.

Finally, we will also look at nursing in Singapore:

1. Have we transformed nursing through data-driven decision making?
2. How can we challenge nurses to take nursing to new heights for better outcomes &
3. How higher education can assist in the transformation? (APNs, degree nurses)
